

Congratulations Columbia High School Teachers!

The Achieve Foundation is pleased to announce that six teacher grants have been awarded to Columbia High School staff members. The recipients are:

Falynn Bleiberg and Jennifer Giordano
“College Visits for Low-Income Students”

Julia Leider and Jenna Reycraft
“iPads for a Web-enhanced Curriculum”

Mark Harley
“Bicycle Generator”

Scott Stornetta
“Best Workplace in America”

Allan Tumolillo
“Robotics” (grades 2-12)

Detailed descriptions of these grants can be found at www.Achievefoundation.org. Achieve’s teacher grant program offers educators in all district schools the opportunity to apply for funding for their innovative classroom projects. Achieve grants allow expansion of student’s learning using materials, equipment and creative strategies that cannot be accommodated within the constraints of the current school budget.

Late Funding Initiative – A Donation can make a great Holiday Gift!!

Achieve invites the community to help fulfill more teachers’ wishes through the Late Funding Initiative. There are a number of exciting projects that have not yet received full funding. It’s not too late for you to make a difference and enhance our children’s learning experience. Please consider contributing to make these approved grants a reality. You can visit the Achieve website, www.achievefoundation.org, to read more details about all the grants as well as the late funding opportunities. Donations accepted through January 30.
